

SAINT JOHN • 100 Women Who Care donated $23,325 to Coverdale Centre for Women, marking their 27th contribution to charities in the Greater Saint John region.

According to a Dec. 3 press release, 100 Women Who Care have donated a total of $647,015 since the group's inception in June 2013.

The group heard pitches from leaders of the Coverdale Centre for Women, Kingsway Care Centre, and Mental Health and Addictions.

The release says that, despite a storm, there was a full house the night of the donation.

"There was a joyous buzz in the room tonight," Debbie Rathwell, founder of 100 Women Who Care of Greater Saint John was quoted saying in the release.

"We've made significant progress on enriching the lives and bringing hope to 27 local charities, but we still have work to do,"
